

Alex Collier
Webinar 10
22th May 2016
Host: Jay Pee

[music]

Jay Pee Announcement: Welcome to Alex Collier's fifth webinar in 2016. Today's topic is maintaining planetary sovereignty through all of the changes. There will be a question and answer session at the end. Please keep your questions short and concise for Alex. So have your notepad at the ready, be seated comfortably, and enjoy today's webinar. Here's your host, Jay Pee.

Jay Pee: Welcome to today's 10th webinar, fifth this year. It's May today. We have some extra, no, we don't have anything extra. We just got the same things but much more stuff. Alex, please, take over from me because I'm just babbling here.

Alex: [laughs] Yeah, good morning, good afternoon, good day everybody, and good evening, and I hope you're well. It's really nice to be here again. We have a lot to cover today and it's amazing how the month goes by so quickly.

I wanted to announce that we'll be going to two webinars a month format here soon and it will be the first and third Friday of each month so stay tuned for that. And there's a reason because there's just so much happening and so much going on.

On the other side of this wall here at the library, there's like a daycare, nursery and the such. So during the presentation if you hear children singing, it is in fact, children singing. Just a few moments ago they were singing "Itsy-bitsy little spider." It was really, really sweet, and so I wanted to give you a heads up on that just so you know what's going on.

So listen, we're gonna cover a lot of things today and we're gonna start with a Nibiru update. I've had some questions as to whether or not I was going to talk about it, and there were a few people who didn't want to do the presentation today. They wanted me to just update them on what I was going to say. And unfortunately, that's just not quite how it works because there's constantly updates. Life is moving. It isn't just okay, this is what it is, and it's constantly moving, it's constantly evolving. There is a flow of energy that is just rushing through the planet, through our solar system, through our lives as you are all aware of.

But let's just talk about Nibiru. It is still stationary but there are a lot of things going on none the less.

The debris that has been in the tail, much of it is actually hitting the back side of the sun, and some of the larger pieces of debris that are dangerous to us and our solar system have been removed or I should say no longer exist. They've been pulverized. What's interesting too is that they have found that some pieces of debris in the tail, some larger unique pieces were actually the ancient remnants of other planets, and those pieces have been taken out of the tail and are being relocated somewhere else for study and observation etc.. I don't have any more specific information than that. I don't know, I don't have any more specific information regarding the protocols of engagement between the Nibiruans and contact with Earth, because as I told you previously, when I was first told about this that they were acting independently on this. So there's a lot of things going on.

The removal of some of the largest pieces of debris in the tail I am told that our space fleet is in fact participating in a limited way in the removal of some of those pieces. Now, based on where it is, if it continues to stay in that position, somewhere between September and October as we start moving into the fall season we will more or less be out of its path should it begin to move at that point. In other words, it will not come directly over the top of our planet. We would still pass through a debris field, but I understand that what's happening now as far as the removal of some of the debris, the more dangerous and the larger pieces, etc. that don't hit the sun, that's an issue. However, there are still plans as far as I know to plow the road, to get in front of that and to make sure that as we pass through it, we're not in any way shape or form looking at extinction level events which has happened in our past here on the planet. So that's a good thing.

So those are positive updates. We're just now waiting to see what's the next shoe to drop at this point. The earth's magnetic field, however, is fluctuating quite a bit, and what I mean by that is it's flipping like this more or less. And pilots who are flying using GPS are having a difficult time. The GPS coordinates are constantly being updated because the planet's magnetic field is flipping. Now, this could be because of Nibiru. There are some extreme weather that is, in fact, going on as was mentioned previously. In certain places on the planet it's very bad and in some places it's very, very mild. I can tell you here in Colorado it is still snowing in the mountains. The other day the high was 49 and there were cars coming down from the mountain with snow on them. And then, of course, there's the flooding that's going on, the tornadoes. There's just a lot of things going on weather wise. So all of that has to be kept an eye on because the ecosystem is changing, the earth is evolving and changing, and so is our consciousness.

Now, regarding our consciousness, as many of you may be aware of, there are a lot of changes happening politically and financially. The key mechanism for control of this planet has been the financial system. And there is a lot of movement going on there, a lot of change. There is a great need and desire to change the financial system of old and integrate it into something that is much more beneficial, much more open and freer and in fact, more real. If we're going to use a financial system than just the ability to take paper and print pictures on it and say that's money, the fiat system is what I'm referring to. So what's happening is that the desire to make that change is so great that what we're seeing is an expansion of consciousness to make this change, and then what happens is the old power system is suppressing that energy. They're doing all kinds of stupid things, sabotaging the shifts, the changes. So what we're seeing is, and this is what we're seeing is an expansion of we want change, people wanting change, and then the old system comes in and suppresses it. So we have the expansion and then the suppression, the expansion and then the suppression of the energy.

I want you to know that the expansion is going to win, it's just at what point does the suppression fail, the oppression of the system, the containment of the old way, when does that fail? And it appears that it's coming eminently. There has been no surrender that I'm aware of, let me just say that. So the issues are going to be forced into existence, and the expansion is going to win because this is truly the will of the people. Everybody, regardless of who you are, whether they're aware of these shifts and these changes, or consciously aware of all that's going on on the planet. Even if they're not, on some level they are in fact wanting change, which is why we're seeing this huge shift, this huge expansion in consciousness because we're done. We're all done hurting and being told we're not good enough, and being told there isn't enough and that constant lie of, "You cannot be free. You can't be trusted with freedom." Because the ones putting that lie out are the ones who are trying to contain all of humanity. So I don't know why that's occurring.

So anyway, ladies and gentlemen, the new systems are coming into place. They will because the old system has had its day. It had its course, it's run its course and it has been...it's ability to rob humanity of its wealth has come to an end, and that literally is what it is. So this new system will be the next stage towards hopefully learning how to live without having to pay to live on a planet we were born on. But we will just have to see. I don't know if it will be in my lifetime or not. Hopefully, for you younger people, it will be in your lifetime.

And this really does symbolize humanities struggle to identify itself, to literally define itself in all kinds of ways. I mean, not only spiritually, but does humanity actually see itself as being able to be free and truly wanting to be free, or does it feel that it can't take that responsibility and it wants to live in some form of control, enslavement, communism, where the state has to rule. I mean, what made the United States so unique is that the government was meant to be the servant, not the master. And even though much of that has been lost, that ground has been lost, many people here and across the world now, there's a rebirth of that where governments role is to serve humanity, not to control and feed off of humanity. That's what parasites do and who the hell wants that? No one really wants that, it makes no difference.

And this consciousness is also very relative to the vibrations that are coming from the center of the galaxy, that are permeation not only all the stars and the suns but also the planets. And we have a very strong symbiotic relationship with those planets. So as that energy, that frequency is rising, so are we, whether we're consciously aware of it or not. There is a paradigm that is coming that is shifting, and this is why several webinars back we talked about we all have to start thinking differently. And what that means is essentially as we have to re-identify ourselves. We have to start looking at ourselves as who we think we are now based on the old paradigm. If you were tomorrow to miraculously have everything wiped clean and you were told you could be anything you wanted to be, anybody you wanted to be, who would that be? Who would you see yourselves being? Who would you want to be? What talents would you want to have? What economic opportunities would you want to have? What type of mind would you want to have? What type of spirituality, what type of consciousness? Where would you, in fact, want to be?

This is what I'm talking about when we say we have to think differently. It is literally about living an inspired life, and that inspiration comes from you. Understanding truly what makes you happy and in that, what is it that you need to do to live that inspired life. To be able to do what you want to do and to figure out what you need to do from what goes right and from what goes wrong. I mean, that's what life does. But we all have to build our lives for ourselves. You have to build your life for you and everyone else needs to get down with that and support you or they need to lay down and get out of your way.

And I guess I'm kind of steering this more towards the younger people that may be on the call, or who are starting to ask the questions or watching the webinars, the replays. Maybe this is good for middle aged people who are ending relationships and starting over, or ending a career and are looking to do something different. You are the creators of you, no one else is, and what anybody else thinks doesn't matter. What really matters is what you want and what you want to do, but that inspiration has to come from you. I mean, there are things that could be outside of you that inspire you, but you have to create that within you and make it happen for you, and you just have to believe it, you truly have to believe it.

And in the past, I have talked about the importance of hearing your own frequency, and what I mean by that is being able to feel your core, your self-center, that love that you have for you, or to get reacquainted with that love that is in fact you. And I have talked a lot about being in nature and how it's so grounding, and how important it is to be quiet so that you can actually feel your own vibration. It's so easy with day-to-day life that your entire projection of you is on the outside. And what I mean by the outside is having to take care of all this stuff, the kids, the feeding, the laundry, the house, your job, car maintenance, the lawn, the yard, your sister's kids, your brother's kids, helping your mom. All this stuff that's outside of what it might be that inspires you to live every day.

Now, it could be that your family and everything that you do on the outside inspires you and you get joy from doing all that. That's awesome, but when you're alone, when you're really, really quiet, when you get those moments, what is it that you wanna do? If you can stop and say, "Okay, I'm 60 years old and I look back, do I have any regrets? Are there things that I haven't done so far that I've wanted to do?" And I can speak for me and say, "Yes." There's many things actually. So for me the point here is to become inspired and to figure out how to do those things, my checklist or some people call it a bucket list. [? 00:19:51] from this point on for however much time I have to do those things that I wanna do. I would say that to you as well, and the reason I'm even bringing this up is because the spiritual frequency to be able to have the energy, and the will, and the inspired spiritual nature to do these things is all around us. This is where the paradigm shift is coming from. It's all around us, and the more joy you have, the more joy that you carry in your day-to-day life, the more it will effect the frequency of everything around you, and that includes your family.

It doesn't mean that they're gonna have to sit down and listen to a webinar, or they're gonna have to sit down and read a book or anything like that, or their home team is [? 00:20:52] another super bowl. It doesn't mean any of that. What it means is that as a family humanity feeds off each other, and the more positive we are, the more higher and quicker the frequency will rise. Because the containment of the dark side is to create and contain with negativity. That's all they have left is just this negative shit that they have been trying to feed us over and over and over and over and over again. And the sooner we can continue and hold that space of real genuine positive frequency, naturally, just naturally being that frequency, the sooner the containment's gone. And for me, I want the containment gone five years ago. So you know, the sooner we get this over with, the sooner we can move on.

Now, talking about the regressives and the negatives. There is a phenomenon going on that is not being talked about and it is happening in every major continent on the planet, Europe, the Soviet Union, Asia, North America, South America, and essentially what it is is this. There are people vanishing literally off the face of the Earth. And I'm talking about people who were in groups and who were hiking in wilderness areas. And what's happening, well there's actually two things happening. One is above and one is below. These people, what's happening is that a holograph of nature is being created, so someone will be walking along a trail, this is happening here in the Rocky Mountains as well. And what will happen is they will just walk into unbeknownst to them, mostly because they're not really paying attention, they will walk into an area where suddenly there is...they still feel they're on the trail, they're in nature, but there's absolutely no sound. No birds chirping, no wind, they don't hear the trees rustling. Even though if they were to actually look they would see all of those things going on, but there's no sound. And what's happening is they are walking into a holograph, and they are being taken either down below or they're being taken up above.

And I mention this because this has been going on, and I've asked the question and I finally got the answer as to what's been going on. When there are remnants of clothing or anything pertaining to that person left on the ground, they are being taken up. And it has been the grays in the past, some of them have been taken by archons. There is some of that still going on unfortunately and it's being covered up by the governments. They know, but they're not in a position to stop it. When somebody vanishes without a trace they're being taken underground generally by the reptilians. And there's no...there's literally footprints in the trail, then it ends. That's because they walked into this holograph. And again, if you find yourself in a situation where you're walking and all of a sudden there's absolutely no sound, there's nothing, no birds, no leaves, no rustling of anything, you need to stop, and you need to back out of that holograph right away. And literally you will step...it will be one step to the next and suddenly you will hear nature all around you. And you can test this.

I would get out of the area as quickly as possible should you walk into this kind of a scenario. And I have talked to other who have been in this scenario, experienced hikers who recognized the fact that something was going on and they immediately turned around and moved out of these scenarios. And I now have confirmation that that's what's been going on. And these things can happen anywhere but the secret is, the thing to look for is the fact that there's absolutely no sound. I will have more on that the next time we talk. But it's important to note that because when I say nature, I don't necessarily mean you have to go far out into the wilderness. You don't need to do that. Any quiet park setting, just anything where you can get yourself grounded and to be quiet, because the earth is taking all of this frequency first and it's coming up through our feet, and then we are connecting to that same frequency with the sun.

So let me say that again. We're getting it physically from the earth through our feet and spiritually we're getting it from the sun. Our souls, our higher selves, they're all connecting to the sun. So we're getting it both ways. And it's important to get in touch with that, to connect with that frequency, because ladies and gentlemen, you are multi-dimensional and it's imperative that you remember that you are multi-dimensional, so that when you start thinking holographically you don't scare the crap out of yourselves. It will make sense that you will see things, you'll begin to see things very differently and you will see the level of shifts of energy happening around you, and you will see how everything interacts. And those who aren't paying attention, when this force happens to them they're probably going to scare the hell out of themselves. But if you remember that you are multi-dimensional it will make sense because you will see how your thoughts, the frequency of your voice, you will begin to see how all these things affect everything that's going on in your life. It's remarkable and this is all parts of the process of being a creator. Now, I'm not saying you're God. I'm saying we are part of the process of becoming all that is, the Isness, whatever word you wanna use for that. We are part of the fabric of all that is. There's just no denying that and we have a responsibility to take our piece of that, and to use it responsibly, and to contribute to the whole of everything that there is.

Now, the Earth's magnetic field is doing its thing. I don't know what's going to happen there. Generally, when the magnetic field flips, there is usually generally a physical pole shift that accompanies it relatively soon. I don't know what that looks like just yet, all right. So I want you to be aware of that scenario. I don't know if that's going to play out. But I'm just giving you all the pieces of what's going on.

Because of the new paradigm and what is, in fact, happening to the Earth, I want you to be fully aware of the fact that this new paradigm does not involve violence. When it fully takes hold and is fully integrated with and around humanity, it is not about violence. And the reason I'm bringing this up is, I've had many, many conversations with them, with the As regarding what's gonna happen to the power, to the reptilians, to the regressive groups, and those humans that are here who have completely betrayed humanity. And at one time there was conversations regarding...there was an idea that some congressmen, some politicians, they would be hung as a public display for their betrayal of humanity etc.. As this takes hold, essentially what's going to happen at least what looks like is going to be happening at this point is that many of these regressives, if not all of them who do not die by the hands of their own will be dying in their sleep. They will just be pulled out of here spiritually and their bodies will die. But they will be pulled out of here so there's no violence, and humanity will move in another direction. But they will be pulled out of here, specifically those who are human, they will be dying in their sleep in record numbers and just be taken out of here, and their souls will be taken some place else.

I don't have that piece what happens to their souls, and quite frankly, there's a part of me that doesn't care. You know, they just need to go. They need to let us go. They need to let us go so that we can continue to evolve and reach our potential, at least move in the direction of our potential, and stop being contained, and manipulated, and fed fear, fear, fear as a steady diet.

Now, I know because I have not had it easy either that you know, sometimes life and circumstances can soak us to the bone with grief and with disillusionment, with lack of trusting etc.. Many of us sometimes think that love has let us down or it's never risen to our expectations. And then it just kind of leaves us wondering, "Well, God, what is real," you know, "What is real?" And I get all that.

Because many of us have the idea that love is supposed to be freedom...and many of us have wondered how do we make love stay. I mean, we see it every day in relationships, and then if something happens and then that it just goes. And we question, is it us, is it them? And when we don't have answers we tend to blame others and there really is no blame. I mean, yes, mistakes are made. Yes, sometimes we all, we hurt each other. But the only true way to make love stay is for you to always truly love yourself. And that can only come from the deepest part of you, the deepest part of your soul, the deepest part of your essence. That part of you that isn't physical, that part of you that takes off a new dream. That part of you that's intuitive, the part of you that's always kind and empathetic, your spirit, your soul, your essence. And no matter what happens, as long as you have that, you will always be in a place of being able to let go of what doesn't work, and always be in a place to embrace what does work, and to embrace the new adventures that come to you after you've let go of those things that hurt and are painful.

We can't hold on to those things anymore and I know it sounds a lot easier than it is. But we all need to learn the art of letting go. And when you can remain in a space of self-love, you change time and space around you, because love transcends dimensions, ladies, and gentlemen, it constantly transcends dimensions. And love comes from a higher place. It's literally you create a state of grace around you when you maintain that space of self-love.

You know, all I can do is plant these seeds. I'm working on the same processes that I'm sharing with you now. Love is so powerful that it literally transcends dimensions. And the mistake that I see many young people make is that they have this expectation that love is gonna prove something to them. It doesn't have to prove anything, it already exists. It's who you are. It's who I am. It's who we are. It doesn't have to constantly prove itself.

What's imperative is that you yourself, for as long as you can naturally and genuinely vibrate self-love with genuine self-respect. And if there's one lesson that I wish I could teach young people would be that, but I'm still learning that lesson as well. I know that there has been a great deal of discussion about these very specific things with many of the benevolent extraterrestrial groups when the topic of mentoring has come up are these things, teaching genuine self-love, genuine self-respect, and knowing that if you can maintain that space, that state of grace for whatever...or any other word, bliss, nirvana, whatever word you wanna use, if you can hold that space, that is 99% of the battle. It's when we decide we don't love ourselves or that we're not worthy, man, we are off that path. That takes us right off the path, and then we can easily be controlled and manipulated with emotions, with lies, with deceit, with anger, etc.. But when we get back onto that path of self-love of self-respect, we vibrate at such a level that none of this shit can even stand in our space. It just moves away, and the only thing that comes to us are others in that same state of space, that same state of grace. That's the frequency that we attract to ourselves, and that is something we should aspire to consciously wanting to do that every moment of the day.

Now, integrating that with our job, with morons that act like morons, I guess it's just remaining in that space and recognizing them for what they are, and just blessing them on their way, but not buying into it. But I know it isn't gonna be easy because this is new for many of us to be in this space. But this is apparently what the first lessons of mentoring whenever that occurs, these are the things that they're going to talk to humanity about. It's not about guilt. It's not about being sinful. It's not about being not good enough. It's about love and knowing that it begins and it ends with you. It's not about acting like you're in love. It's about actually finding that place within us that is that essence, and this vibration that's coming is loaded. The vibration that is permeating the Earth, that is this light that is now surrounding the Earth, our solar system, humanity. It's just permeating, brimming with this knowledge of self-love.

God, you know, sometimes it is just so hard to figure out how to put these things into words. Because it's like taking an emotion that you feel in fifth density and trying to explain it in third density. When third density is this big [showing distance - on one hand from index fingers to thumb], then fifth density is that big [showing distance - between two hands, arms stretched to both sides], how do you explain that [large] in this [small]? How do you take this [large] and squeeze it into an itty-bitty tiny little space called third density? I don't know how to do that yet. I haven't been able to figure it out. But what's happening is that third density is no longer gonna be an itty-bitty little space. It is expanding and it's going to expand into fourth, and then it's gonna expand into fifth. So you're all gonna get what I've been trying to share with you, this one day into that, because we're all gonna be just moving right into it, especially we begin to see things holographically, think holographically.

So all these things are very much interrelated and to those...the one who loves is never the fool. The one who loves, the one who feels is never the fool. It is always the one who doesn't love, who's afraid to love, who won't allow themselves to love. They're the fool because they're denying their own existence. They're denying the most incredible gift of themselves that they could possibly ever imagine.

So I wanted to share that with you. That's the message for today, the lesson for today, or the inspired notions for today. Things are picking up. The frequencies are picking up, world events are changing very, very quickly. Again, I wanna remind you that we get some really positive news and then here comes the containment. You can almost clock it. There comes a containment of negativity right after it. The expansion, the negativity. Focus on the expansion. Know that most of the negativity and containment is all being done on purpose. It's all designed. It is all manipulation, and this is all they have left. The regressives, the dark side is to create fear. They have no more tools in their belts. They have no more tools in their box. This is coming to a conclusion here very soon, and don't be surprised if there's this wave of people dying in their sleep, real pricks, don't be surprised.

Do we wanna do some questions now?

Jay Pee: Hi, Alex, this is from Ryan. Hi, Alex. I have heard that there may be an energy wave in September. I also heard that many of us may shift into 4D in September. Can you confirm either of these events for September? And if so, are they connected?

Alex: Well, the energy wave is occurring right now as we speak. Now, whether it's a more powerful wave or not, I don't have any specific information regarding that. As far as fourth density, some of us moving into 4D, some of us already have much of ourselves planted in 4D. And what's happening is we're pulling our physicality to it. I mean, you have to project your consciousness to there first, and then you bring the physicality. Remember, it starts with the spirit first, then the physical. Spirit's the original idea, the original intent, and then the physical body follows afterwards.

Ryan, it could very well be that here very shortly, as you begin to holographically see the world and think holographically, you will begin to realize, "Wow, I am now really moving into fourth density." because that's the shift. That is one of the major keystones of the shift is the ability to think holographically. And I can't give you any real hard specifics on what that looks like as I myself am also going through this process, but that's the next stage. That's the next stage, is thinking holographically. And then physically we begin to move in and out of third and into fourth, and then at some point physically our bodies become more light. And what I mean by light is that when we get closer to fifth density, you will be able to travel using your mind pretty much anywhere you wanna go, and that's a topic for another webinar. For those of you who are dream travelers, or travel in your dreams, who practice the Toltec ways, you already have some experience with this. So that's all I got on that.

Jay Pee: Will the As stop the poisoning of our air, water, and food?

Alex: Okay, understand something, the As are not the only ones in this. There is a very large contingency of benevolent races who are here to help. It's not just about the As, that's number one. Because I wanna make sure everybody gets their credit, their due here. There are many benevolences. Literally, the pollution of the earth can be cleaned up in a week, and I'm not kidding when I say that. The pollution of this planet can be cleaned up in a week once the benevolence get here and the dark side has stepped aside and/or died off. That's how quickly this thing can turn around because of spiritual technology and the technologies that they use. Remember, everything's a holograph. Everything is a holograph. All physicality is a holograph, things can turn around very, very quickly. And I have no clue who's gonna run for president, who's gonna win president. I'm personally not enamored with any of the candidates, so...

Remember, the people are supposed to run this country. The people are supposed to decide, not corporations, not businesses. The governments were supposed to be and are supposed to be the servant of the people, not the other way around. So we literally have to change our thinking what we expect a government to be. If you want it to babysit you, then you have to give up your freedoms. If you don't want a babysitter because you can take care of business, you want them to take care of certain things that need to be dealt with, then that voice has to be spoken, and it has to come from the people to the government to say, "Look, this is what you're gonna do. You're not gonna do this. You're not gonna do that. No way are you going to dictate to us how this is gonna be run. We're telling you how we want it to be run."

This is all part of self-empowerment. This is all part of that self-respect. “You are not gonna tread on me, you are not gonna shit on me, you are not gonna do these things because you think it's gonna give you control over us.” That is not how this works, ladies and gentlemen, and that is not spiritual evolvement. It's never been spiritual evolvement, but what has to happen here is that humanity has to get to a place where we see ourselves as one, regardless of race, color, creed. In my humble opinion, all the religion should just get flushed down the toilet, because I have not seen them unite anybody ever. And that would be a nice start, wipe the slate clean, we are now the same. Okay.

Jay Pee: So Alex, from Catherine. Alex, can you provide any update about what's happening in Antarctica?

Alex: No, but I find it very interesting. I find it very interesting that all of a sudden now everybody wants to start talking about Vostok Lake or Lake Vostok down there, when of course all information for the last 15 years of what's been going on down there has been totally suppressed, including the disappearance of a news crew and a film crew that was down there. Now all of a sudden people wanna start talking about it. So that tells me that they have probably, if there was technology there they have probably squirted it all away, they have taken it out. They have probably completely sanitized the environment there so that we don't know jack. And that's how cynical I've become as well with the powers that be. That's all I have, and I don't have anything specific other than that, but I do find it interesting that now suddenly they're allowing conversation about it. And usually, based on my past experience, that's what happens. They come in, they sanitize the area, make sure there is nothing that's unique or anything that will create a paradigm shift, and then suddenly they'll let us start talking about it or they'll even admit that it exists. Okay.

Jay Pee: So from George. Alex, organizations like the EU on this planet don't seem to work due to the political stranglehold they have over their member states. Are the Andromedans involved in any forums between either different regions, planets, or star systems like we have on earth, and how do these forums work for them?

Alex: Okay, that's a great question. That's a great question. Now, one of the lessons of earth has been about the exercise of power. If you look at all of the political structures, and in most part virtually all the structures that we create, they're all based on power, the ability to have power, to control power, to emit power, and to garner more power. Yes, the As are part of other councils, but my understanding is that none of these councils are based on power. They are based on sharing knowledge, sharing information, and implementing the sharing of the knowledge and the power, or sharing the knowledge and the information with other races. It is not about power over. It is now about, “Okay, we have all this power and we're gonna hold it.” That structure, that old paradigm which began with the reptilian structures, those in Alpha Draconis, the old Orion power structures and other star systems that were caught up in that structure.

Most of those structures have all but crumbled, and many of them don't even exist anymore. There's a few that are left, but they are also crumbling because that paradigm simply doesn't work because it's not self-generating. You can't continuously feed off of something else and expect to remain healthy. You can't be healthy feeding off the life force of something else because once that force dies, once that something else dies, then you have to go to something else.

What happens is, in the end, those structures are left with nothing but themselves to feed off of, and they die and they're implode, they are gone. They just implode, or they disintegrate and they take themselves out. And if you remember, those of you who have read the notes and in some of the interviews from the 90s, the As have found remnants of civilizations on other planets that did just that. They were caught in the power struggles and they took themselves out. They no longer even exist. All that's left is the archaeology, the geology of their civilization because this paradigm, it simply doesn't thrive. It's not the original intent of this universe to have power over. That was not the original intent. The original intent is self-love, self-respect, and expansion of joy and love. That was the original intent, and in the end, that's all that's gonna be left standing. So I hope that answers your question.

And we see that today with our planet. We see these power structures beginning to crumble. That's because once you've taken everything, and you've bleed everything dry to keep yourself in power and there's nothing left, it's over. Game is over. You begin to feed off yourself and that's what's gonna happen. It's going to implode. They're all gonna fall down on top of themselves. And those who are completely stuck and will not evolve from that power structure, that power over other, they will be removed, they will die in their sleep. They're going to go. They're just going to go because that is not the original intent of humanity, that is not the original intent of the Phatal. That is just not going to continue to thrive and survive. It's over. We're just seeing the remnants. We're watching that whole thing die now, that's what it is.

And it should be noted that we should in fact watch it die and learn from that history, learn from that paradigm, so that future generations that are beyond us can continue to evolve and learn that lesson and not repeat it.

Jay Pee: It's the learning of the lesson and not repeating it. That's the clever bit. It's all very [inaudible 00:57:23].

Alex: And it's the remembering. It's the remembering. It's not rewriting history. It's like, "Okay, this is what really happened," and loving ourselves enough to say, "Look, mistakes were made, but we've learned from them, we've moved on." Not just throwing in the rug and say, "Oh, we don't wanna talk about it." I mean, it always comes back. It always rears its head.

Jay Pee: Indeed, and that's the subject of some of the round tables that I want to bring up in the future is like the true galactic history, our real history in a very detailed way, which I hope that you'll join in with your perspective on that.

Alex: If I can, surely. I can tell you it's remarkable. Ladies and gentlemen, when you finally realize, you yourself without anybody telling you, when you finally realize and you have that moment within you where you truly grasp your place in the galaxy, in the universe, in the creation of time. When you realize that you are not in any way, shape, or form insignificant, that you have this lineage of experiences and lifetimes and knowledge, and the fact that you are just this enormously magnificent being that is beyond description, there's just nothings like it. There is just nothing like it. And it's hard to maintain that moment here on earth with all this containment going on, but it will get easier once the containment ends. It will because you'll be able to keep more and more of it. More of the knowledge, more of the love, more of the emotion, more of the intuition. You'll be able to maintain more of the trust that you have in you, more and more and more. And the more that builds, the more self-love that you garner, because you have more trust in you because you're not getting the crap beaten out of you every day by the containment of this world trying to control and manipulate. [hissing sound] It's tiring, it really is.

Jay Pee: Yeah, I know.

Alex: It gets old, I mean, it is old. Okay, Jay Pee.

Jay Pee: Next Question from Deborah. Is the Planet X system still stopped, and will it be stalled till earth gets to the other side of the sun? If so, will this prevent a pole shift with the resulting coastal event? And if the Planet X system flies by when earth is on the other of the sun, what cataclysms do we still need to prepare for? Now, I think you've covered some of that earlier, but [? 01:00:40] .

Alex: We can revisit it, we can revisit it very quickly because I know there's other questions. Yes, it's still stalled or stopped. I've covered the debris field that there's a lot of cleaning out going on there. The planet Earth is still moving. We are moving in our rotation around the sun. My understanding is that it is not supposed to come right over the top of us anymore which would have been the case, and it would have been a horrific, catastrophic extinction level event for most lifeforms on this planet.

Now, just the fact that it is in fact stopped and what's interesting is that people can see it. There are sky cameras watching it. A friend of mine sent me a video of Russian fighter pilots in the air over northern Russia. There's the sun and there's the red star right there next to it, okay, behind it. I mean, it's just amazing, and these are Russian fighter pilots videotaping this. And the Russians are sharing this information with their people.

So when we know, we say the national anthem, the home of the free and land of the brave. I don't know about the free part anymore. It's sure not looking good. There's some hypocrisy there and we're all gonna have to face that here real soon I think.

Now, as far as the pole shift, I'm not aware of it. I sincerely hope that's not what occurs. I think what's happening with the magnetic field is interaction with what's going on. We'll just have to stay tuned for that. But the fact that Planet X has stopped, Nibiru has stopped, ladies and gentlemen, that's just a miracle. That is a miracle, okay. I mean, it is nothing short of a miracle. I mean, you really, those of you who have been watching this now and paying attention, you just need to know that that's a miracle. If you had any doubts of a divine hand or divine anything, you need to revisit that because that's a miracle, the fact that it's just sitting there now and we are moving out of its way. My understanding is that when it finally does start to move, whenever that is, it will pass behind us but we will all see it. We will not only see the star, but we will see the seven planets and moons that revolve around it passing with it. We will all see it and they want us to see it. They want us to realize we are part of something much bigger and it's imperative that people get that.

I mean, think about it, you are multi-dimensional, and you are living simultaneously on other levels, and your box on earth is this big. That's it, that's your life. That's a crime that you have narrowed your vision through programming, through fear, through whatever your decisions are that you have narrowed your vision to this. And the only ones who can change that are you or those who have their vision this narrow. So things are going to be presented to open up that narrow vision. There will be no denying it. So there will be things put in front of everybody where they're gonna have to open up their vision and say, "Wow, how did that get there? When did that get there?" Because most people aren't really paying attention.

Now, let's revisit this as well since we're on the subject. In the last webinar, I talked about Pluto. Well, Pluto, the newest information is that Pluto has a much stronger atmosphere around it than they ever thought it did. So now they're having to revisit the fact that whether Pluto is a planet or not. So I'm gonna put this back on the table because the Babylonians, the Sumerians, the Chaldeans, they all had it right. They described our solar system from the outside in describing all the planets, their colors, everything, and the fact that some are on their side, had rings. All of this was described. Planet 9 is in fact planet 10. Planet 10 on a numerical value is 10. Planet X, X which is a numerical value is in fact a 10. We're all talking about the same things. It's all semantics. It's double think, it's double talk. You got to be able to look past all that shit because they're really, really good at this. They're really, really good at this. We are all talking about the same thing. Okay, next question.

Jay Pee: Meanwhile...

Alex: I don't mean to ramble. I hope I'm not.

Jay Pee: Please don't. No, no, you're not, and don't worry about it. It's not a ramble. I mean, you say things from your heart and soul which just touch everybody, and that's the important thing. This is a question from Lorey. This is a very different topic. The boxes of one million souls that the grays had, what were the boxes made of, and how can technology be stronger than spirit? These capturing of the souls I believe. I don't know what that's referring to. I've not seen that anywhere but are you aware of that? Is that something you said?

Alex: Yeah, that's old information, and that's a really good question. Lorey, I don't know exactly what the technology is, but I can tell you that in order to trap those souls, they were deceived into moving into what they thought was a spiritual realm, and when in fact it was a holograph that had been created to entrap them. Let me say it again. A holograph was created to entrap these beings into believing they were moving into a spiritual realm when in fact it was a holograph to entrap them. I want that to sink in.

Jay Pee: And that was the previous ascension.

Alex: If I say more than that I will get myself...I will just, I will get grounded, okay.

Jay Pee: Alex, was this a previous ascension attempt, can you say that? I mean, do these souls come from a long time ago?

Alex: Not that long ago, not that long ago. Define long ago, I mean...

Jay Pee: Well, in terms of thousands of year, you know, thousands of years.

Alex: Somewhere thousands of years, others were not.

Jay Pee: Okay, right. Enigma upon enigma. It's always good stuff.

Alex: Everything is a holograph. What's important is knowing the real, the one that you're participating in from the one that you have nothing to do with, and it's all frequency, it's all vibration. Make a note, in the next webinar, we're gonna spend a lot of time on that, okay. This is a subject I'm a little nervous about talking about because there are certain things like when we talk about frequencies, they hammer me, the dark side. They came right after me right away. But I think the time has come to do something about this.

If there's a holograph in front of you and you're in the woods, and it appears to be real but there's absolutely no sound, why do you think there's no sound? Why is it that they can't duplicate the actual sounds of nature in real time? How is it they can't do that but they can create a mirror image of what you see visually? I'm giving you guys something to think about here. One's creation created by intent, the other is technology. The holograph created with intent, which is spiritual soul, which is spiritual knowledge. That which is created by intent will always carry the higher vibration, the higher frequency. That which is created by technology, if you are in tune with yourself you will know the difference in a heartbeat, you will. We're gonna spend some time on that in the next webinar, folks. That may be the only thing we talk about other than whatever updates I get, okay.

Jay Pee: The holograph of our universe. This is from Joan. Hi, Alex. What is your opinion about so-called ascension groups that say they are assisting people with the ascension process, but are actually consciously or unconsciously being manipulated by higher vibrational beings into another metrics system. How synchronous, that was genius.

Alex: What do I think of groups like that? Why are there even groups like that? Why are people even participating in groups like that especially if they have the knowledge you have? The essence that is your soul is directly connected to source. There is no middle man and I know that there are religions that want you to think that. There is no middle man. The only reason there would be a middle man is if you didn't come directly from source, do you understand? But the fact that you come directly from source, the fact that you intentionally are creating yourself all the time, that should tell you you don't need a manager, you don't need a boss. What you need to do is to get back in touch with your original intent.

If there is assistance that is being offered that totally self-empowers you in every way and asks nothing of you, I would pay attention to that. But if they are asking you for something in return for helping you become fully self-empowered, I would run like the dickens because it's not genuine. Because again, it's the power structure. It's just cloaked in something else. It's just cloaked in something else. [? 01:14:03] is a beautiful example of that. It is cloaked into something else. It is a power structure cloaked as something else. You guys know this, you are living in multi-dimensions. You are the multi-dimensional. You have fallen down through dimensions into time here. None of you were hatched here. None of you were hatched here, you just have to remember. We just have to remember, and there's no one way to remember. You just have to want to remember. Oh my God, you are creating you. You can get this. You can get this. [laughs] You can get this, oh my God.

Jay Pee: It's a bit like being able to see one of those pictures, but it pops up into 3D you know. And like you're just looking over somebody's shoulder you can just see it, and you can be staring at it for hours and you can't see it. It's just the way you look at something, isn't it?

Alex: It's perspective [? 01:15:14].

Jay Pee: Perspective is the word. Yes, perspective.

Alex: It's perspective, that's what it is.

Jay Pee: Yeah, and this is what I'm always saying. People say, "Oh, he's right, he's wrong." No. I say everybody's got their own perspective. Everybody's got their own universe.

Alex: They do, you know. And it's all in our perspective is nothing more than the filters of what we value. Those filters of value, that is what creates our perspective. But if your filters and your values tend towards the more negative side, well, you need to shift. You need to make some shifts. You need to clean out the filters and you need to learn the art of letting go, because those filters are clogged with all the would have, could have, should have. That's the past, let it all go. Clean those filters and start with what you're going to do today or how you want to live today. What is it you want in your life today? What is it you want to create that is joy, abundant, happy, today? That's the filters you need to put on your perspectives. All that other shit, that is gone, it is over. Why are you dragging it with you? Let it go. Oh my God, please let it go. It isn't serving you. It isn't serving you, okay.

Every day is a new day. Every day has unlimited, infinite possibilities, but you're the one who has to intend it. It can't be intended for you, okay. Self-love, self-respect, self-empowerment, you have to do it. The tools are here. Stop looking at yourself as a physical being and remember you're a spiritual being, a multi-dimensional spiritual being. Remember that, the tools are all around you. The energy is all around you, just remember that. It's not hard. It's not hard, you just got to trust yourself. You got to trust yourself. Inch it out, just try it. Just try it, okay.

Jay Pee: Okay, from...Alex, we've been told from a few sources currently about the takeover of the White House by General Dunfort and the team using the John F. Kennedy tunes maybe, I don't know. Also, two neutron or exotic bombs were exploded at Area 51, one at S4. Have you any information on these events or confirmation?

Alex: I know nothing about neutron bombs being detonated. I know nothing about that. I have heard the rumors regarding the old regime, the government bought and paid for and owned by the Federal Reserve or the international bankers. And then I've heard the rumors about the new republic. I myself, I am familiar with those things, but I myself have not seen any real proof of any new republic or any of that yet. I am aware of a lot of changes going on within the financial system. I'm aware of the battle that is going on there and that battle clearly signifies the difference between the light and the dark, but I have not seen anything that tells me that a new government or a reestablished original government is in fact in place. I have not seen anything to prove that to me yet. I'm not ruling it out, but I have not seen anything that tells me that that's real yet.

Jay Pee: From Michael Kelly. According to the As many of us humans used to be Phatal, higher density beings, and we fell into third density. [01:19:34] person is a Phatal, is that person experiencing this earth life as a soul fragment whereas the larger more whole soul is still in 12 density?

Alex: Okay, that's a nice question. That's a really...I like that question. Number one, there is not "used to be" in that question. You didn't used to be anything. You still are, okay. And as far as a fragment I would have to say yes, that is absolutely true because third density's on a frequency scale is about that big [showing distance - on one hand from index fingers to thumb not stretched], maybe a little bigger, but that big. Fourth density is that [showing distance - on one hand from index fingers to thumb stretched apart totally], fifth density is this [showing distance - between two hands arms stretched to sides of body], and it exponentially expands from there [showing arms outstretched further]. So if you are this [showing outstretched arms] and you're trying to put that in an itty-bitty tiny little space like this [showing third density], yes, you will have to condense and fragment it in order for it to operate in this frequency.

But there is no used to be Phatal. There is not used to be. So if you need that to empower yourself, you go for it because that is there for you, you understand? That is there for you.

Jay Pee: Marie. Hi, Alex. Do you know if there are any benevolent ETs who are willing to help humans with regressive or energetic physical implants? Thank you so much.

Alex: I understand that that has been going on. There've been many removed. Maybe not everyone, but I know that there's been a process of that actually occurring and I believe that there are a lot of people, abductees, and contactees who are on the record as actually stating that that has in fact been going on. I can also tell you that there is, in fact, boots on the ground who have the ability and have had the experience of meeting people, and whether it's just in passing or purposely bumping into someone, putting their hand in the right place and disarming implants. So there is a lot going on, ladies and gentlemen. I'm not at liberty to spell it all out because we're on a battlefield, whether we realize it or not, we're on a battlefield. And there are many levels to this that this battle that is going on, and it's going on all around us, but the answer to your question is yes. The answer to your question is yes.

Jay Pee: From Michael Kelley. Hi, Alex. When you lived on the As ship for 91 days, didn't it seem like years?

Alex: No. No, it didn't. Even though I slept a lot because of my biological clock, I have to tell you in retrospect it passed...it was like a blur, it passed so quickly. And one of the things that has always bothered me is that when I was up there on fifth density, there were so many things that I did not see for a long period of time because my mind simply couldn't comprehend those things. And it took what turned out to be months for me to actually begin to truly see visually their reality. For weeks, things that I was physically familiar with having been on the ship with Morné and Vesayas, I was able to see. I recognize those things. But things that were not on their ship like their forests, their trees, their colors, their animals, their critters, it took me a very, very long time to even begin to visually see those things and then it was over, and then I had to come back.

So for me, it went by really, really fast even though I was there almost 91 days. I wish I could do it over again, I do. I wish I could do it over again. And that's why sometimes we just don't see things in front of us is because we're just not familiar with them. That was a bummer, that was a bummer that I didn't see more while I was there. That's one of the regrets that I have that I spoke of earlier that I have some regrets and things that I would wanna do different. That's one of them that I would truly want to be able to take in all of that reality.

Jay Pee: Alex. What was it, Alex, that was...that slowly dissolved if you like over that period of time which seems to be that to them that would be like one of their weekends?

Alex: It was their nature. It was nature. It was the nature that they lived in on the ship. It's nothing like what we have here, and I just couldn't see it because my mind didn't know what it was. It didn't process it. It didn't know how to process it. It couldn't process the colors because it didn't recognize anything. It didn't see it because it wasn't anything that happened here. Shoot, my time is up and they just called.

Jay Pee: Alex, it's been brilliant.

Alex: Guys, I'm sorry. These things go by so fast. I think that's why we're gonna do two a month.

Jay Pee: Yeah, it's much more relaxed when you do two a month.

Alex: James will post it up on the site and we'll get that all ironed out, but it's real soon. Guys, I love you. Thank you for the donations, the few that I get. You have no idea how it helps me make it from one end, one week to the next. God bless you. I love you, and we'll see you soon, okay.
